Academic Office

Compliance with the Pupil Textbook and Instructional Materials Incentive Program Act

November 7, 2013

I. OVERVIEW / HISTORY

Each year, the SCUSD Board of Education holds a Public Hearing and adopts a resolution certifying that the Instructional Materials Funding Realignment Program (IMFRP) allocation is expended in compliance with the Pupil Textbook and Instructional Materials Incentive Act. The resolution attests to the sufficiency of core textbooks/instructional materials for each student; as is required by the Williams Act. Additionally, the resolution certifies that materials in each core subject are consistent with the content and cycles of the curriculum framework adopted by the State Board of Education. If insufficiencies are noted, the Board must identify the plan to remedy said insufficiencies within eight weeks from the adoption of the textbook sufficiency resolution.

The District's textbook/instructional materials ordering process for each school begins in the spring; deliveries of textbooks/instructional materials are made to schools beginning in June through September. To document sufficiency for purposes of the Pupil Textbook and Instructional Materials

III. BUDGET:

SCUSD allocated $1 million of IMFRP funds for the purchase of state adopted core instructional materials. The following chart outlines expenditures to date for 2013-2014. Remaining funds will be used to address instructional material needs that arise during the upcoming trimesters and/or second

IV. GOALS, OBJECTIVES AND MEASURES:

The goal is to ensure that each student has the requisite set of state-adopted textbook and instructional materials in each core academic subject and to allocate sufficient funds to support annual textbook expenditures. The objective is to accurately project textbook and instructional materials needs so that adequate funds may be allocated to address student textbook/instructional materials needs, per Education Code section 60119. The School Textbook Sufficiency Survey will serve as a measure for goal and objectives.

V. MAJOR INITIATIVES:

The Library Textbook Services Department will assess the School Textbook/Instructional Materials Inventory and Order procedures and make recommendations for improving accuracy of projected needs, allocation of funding and the processing and distribution of textbooks and other instructional materials. As a part of this assessment, staff will take input from school site staff as well as other departments that interface with the textbook sufficiency process.

VI. RESULTS:

One Hundred percent of schools had sufficient textbooks and instructional materials by the eighth week of school, per Education Code 60119.

VII. LESSONS LEARNED/NEXT STEPS:

In January 2014, site administrators will submit course offerings and projected student numbers for 2014-2015 to Library Textbook Services. If courses require new adoptions, a course of study and textbooks are to be approved by the Board before April 1, 2014 to be incorporated into the budget and to assure that materials arrive by the beginning of the school year. If Board approval is made after April 1, 2014 textbooks will be purchased the following school year. The department will continue to bar code and maintain electronic records in Destiny of all new textbooks to ensure accurate accounting.
